3. The first item on the agenda called for the members to verbally express their organization's respective views on DCID 1/16, having had benefit of documentation and the presentation on the subject at the previous meeting. Views were somewhat diverse with certain common points emerging. Some were in agreement with the draft as written without reservation. However, even those concurring in the proposed text have concerns in consonance with the majority, i.e., the "cost" of implementation. There are some who foresee a major impact on resources, even with a phased-in implementation. Other concerns voiced were the following:

4. Members next offered their verbal comments on the proposed draft Personal Liability Amendment to the National Security Act of 1947 which was provided by [redacted] the OGC referent to ICS. The comments reflected virtually unanimous concurrence in the proposed amendment. Some members were restrained in their support only because their agency/department legal officials were still reviewing it. There were some reservations expressed along the lines that it looked too good to realistically expect ultimate approval. One member, while giving full support, said his organization could even live with limited immunity if we had to take up a fall-back position.

[redacted] remarked that Congress and the President were not opposed to the immunity concept and that we are waiting for OMB to relate its judgment.

Action Item

The Chairman asked all members to have their legal offices review the proposed amendment and to bring to the next meeting a written statement of their agency/department position. [redacted]

5. Members viewed a video on security awareness and education produced by the Navy. It was a product of Navy's 3PM Program (Program for Preventive People Maintenance). Comments following the film reflected agreement that it carried a clear message in pleasant but serious form. The film is unclassified, FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY. The Navy representatives said the film can be made available for others to use if desired. [redacted]

6. While waiting for the arrival of our guest speaker, [redacted] remarked that the SIG-I's second biannual report on implementation of the Presidential report recommendations (and covering the SSCI report) was in the composition process with the IG/CM(T) contributions in, the IG/CM(P) two-thirds in, and the IG/CI contributions due that week. The report is due for presentation to Congress by Thanksgiving.

[redacted] also commented briefly on the development of a task force (FBI, NSA, CIA, DIA, and State) to work out the proposals for organization and establishment of the Foreign Missions Security Office referenced in the Shultz-Webster memorandum to the President. [redacted]

7. The Department of Justice representative then delivered a 30-minute talk on current legal issues affecting Community security policy. Mr. Vincent Garvey, Deputy Director of the Federal Programs Branch of the Civil Litigation Division, provided an account of the status of certain legal issues of interest to the audience, including the Webster vs. Doe case, the Weinberger vs. Doe case, and the current litigation involving the SF 189 (and indirectly Form 4193). His remarks pointed out difficulties for the Community but "not without optimism" for rulings favorable to our interests. A bottom line to the several legal matters under consideration might be summarized by saying none have clear conclusions at this point and some are closer to resolution than others. It was also clear that it is impossible to accurately predict how the courts will rule because of too many variables. Mr. Garvey's presentation provoked thought and provided insight and "different" views of legal matters of importance to all of us. The Chairman extended his thanks from the membership to Mr. Garvey and Mr. Gattozzi. [redacted]

8. There were no old or new business items surfaced following Mr. Garvey's presentation. [redacted]
